FIRST PRIZE WINNER IN VICTORIA DAY PARADE

The United Commercial Travelers' float in the May 24 parade, forty feet long and twenty-five feet wide, a wonderful representation of an Egyptian scene, is believed to be the largest float that has ever appeared in a parade in Victoria. Congratulations have been extended to P. J. Balzano, who designed the float, on his success in carrying off first prize for the second time for the travelers. With an Egyptian dome realistically represented in gold and bronze, hand-painted pillars representing Sienna marble with a base in antique bronze, the design was the work of an artist in effect.

The float, which was well repaid by the result attained, a smoking bowl of incense, bronzes, and vases and palms, all helped to add to the realism of the float, which aroused much admiration all along the route. With the driver concealed, the all-British Land truck on which the float was mounted appeared to move on its own volition.

The travelers went to considerable expense to secure the first prize. The charming princess, Miss Nita Wright, was attired in a costume adorned with diamonds and pearls that represented well over $1,000. Four graceful little girls, also daintily attired, were in attendance upon her, Gene Burnett, Tia Kearns, Genevieve Liddle, and Muriel Bentham.

EXPECTED TICKET WAS NOMINATED BY CONSERVATIVES

Close Contest Puts Gus Lyons on Ticket With Twigg and Mayor Hayward

Joshua Hinchliffe, H. Despard Twigg, Mayor Reginald Hayward and Major Gus Lyons, M.C., were last night named by the Victoria Liberal-Conservative Association as its candidates in the forthcoming provincial election.

Each of the six wards of the city sent fifty delegates to the nominating convention and taxed the capacity of the clubrooms on the top floor of the Campbell Building.

Mr. Hinchliffe was accorded a unanimous nomination, reinforced by an ovation of applause when he entered the convention. On the first ballot, 301 votes being cast, Mr. Twigg with 227 votes and Mayor Hayward with 180 votes were elected for the ticket. A second ballot proved abortive when neither Major Gus Lyons with 126 votes or Dr. J. D. Hunter with 123 supporters had a majority of the 272 ballots. Herbert Carmichael had dropped out of the running after the first count, and Mrs. A. Montell and Miss L. Bosworth withdrew their names after the second count, to secure a straight fight for the third tally, which went in favor of Major Lyons by 118 to the 112 votes registered for Dr. Hunter. Major Lyons getting on the ticket by one vote, as 234 ballots were issued.

Much trouble was caused Chairman Harry Savage by difficulty in excluding spectators from the proceedings. The first attempt to take a vote was abandoned when it was found that the 305 ballots provided had been too few for the accredited delegates because distribution had been made to spectators. This trouble recurred in minor form throughout the later proceedings. Another cause for acrimony was the action of the executive committee in ruling that a bare majority would not be sufficient to elect, substituting a requirement that the successful nominees must receive fifty-one per cent of the votes cast. After much protest and reference to the constitution, the delegates over-ruled this regulation.

HINCHLIFFE PLEASED
During the tallying of the ballots, Joshua Hinchliffe, addressed the convention, expressing his thanks for the vote of confidence accorded him, and stating that he would have considered a vote of less than ninety per cent of the convention as an intimation to step down and out of political life.

"I am pleased to note that my actions during my term in the Legislature, I thereby knew that I was doing something. I consider that the man who is never criticized is never doing anything," he said.

"I am glad that the Honorable Premier paid his respects to me in the course of his recent address here. I was thereby assured that he did not consider me a nonentity, even though he dubbed me 'Victoria's mis-representative, a speedy falling from grace after a declaration against personal abuse."

Mr. Hinchliffe considered that the actions of the Liberal Government provided the Conservative Party with uncountable places for attack, and he was delighted that Premier Oliver had announced that his appeal to the public was made upon the record of the Government.

He touched upon the "retroactive beer money scandal, and asked, 'Suppose the Conservatives had done that, would we ever have heard the end of it?'

Mr. Hinchliffe also referred to the failure of the Government to fill the vacant Vancouver seat in the Legislature.

T. G. Coventry, Conservative candidate in Nanaimo, also addressed the convention briefly, asserting that the Liberal meetings in that riding were only being attended by one-third the number of those at his gatherings.

CALIFORNIA DUMPS PRODUCE HERE IS GROWERS' CLAIM

Pass Strongly Worded Resolution on Shipments From Southern State

Disinfection Must Reduce Food Value, Hothouse Association Says

Claiming that British Columbia is being used as a dumping ground for California strawberries and tomatoes from California which other states of the United States regard as too dangerous to accept, as a result of the foot and mouth disease in the southern state, the Victoria Hothouse Association at a meeting last night passed a strongly worded resolution on the subject.

The resolution has been forwarded to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and to the Dominion and Provincial Governments, and it is expected that immediate action be taken in view of the shipments now arriving in Victoria from the South.

"Food and feed crops, such as strawberries, tomatoes, and other vegetables, are being dumped here in quantities that are likely to follow unless prudent and restraint are exercised on both sides. The paper says the action of the United States Congress does not represent the will of the American nation, and urges continued appeals to the 'American conscience.'" tion if for no other reason than because the Opposition, without any tangible policies, is split into three factions, Conservatives, Provincials and Independents, while the Liberal Party is a united whole. For these reasons the people of this Province should not accept as probabilities the promises that Mr. Bessner and the Provincial Party are making now. They will have no chance of carrying them out."

DEEP REGRET AT U.S. EXCLUSION IS EXPRESSED BY JAPAN

Tokio, May 28 (Associated Press).—A bitter editorial outburst marks the final enactment of the United States immigration bill, including the clause providing for exclusion of Japanese. A majority of the newspapers show disappointment with the action of President Coolidge, and call his statement following his signing of the bill unconvincing and unsatisfactory.

"The statement," says The Hochi, "may satisfy the United States, but never the Japanese. If the President had been of the same calibre as Lincoln he would have braved opposition and vetoed the bill, thus saving the anti-Japanese agitators."

"GRAVE CONSEQUENCES"
"The point at issue is not the admission of Japanese immigrants, but whether Japan is accorded the same treatment as other nations. The American action makes the Japanese doubt the existence of international good faith, and the grave consequences which Ambassador Hara predicted will undoubtedly follow."

The Chugai Shogyo Shimpo says: "President Coolidge's statement is a mere diplomatic courtesy in an effort to explain exclusion to this country. We must declare to the United States that Japan can and will not accept such injustice. Our Government must take decisive measures."

RESTRAINT URGED

The Jiji Shimpō notes with "a heavy heart the grave consequences" that are likely to follow unless prudent and restraint are exercised on both sides. The paper says the action of the United States Congress does not represent the will of the American nation, and urges continued appeals to the "American conscience."

PROTEST CALLED USELESS

The Asahi says: "It is too bad that Japan had to be struck by a stone thrown by a wayward child. The child is probably not aware of the consequences, but that does not alter the fact that these may be of grave. A protest is now as useless as pouring water on a duck's back. The nation must encourage the Government to take more practical steps."

"The signing of the bill by President Coolidge was a fatal blow to Japanese-American friendship. The President is a thorough politician. His chief motive in signing the bill was fear of alienating support for his presidential campaign. Coolidge is to blame for lack of moral courage."

The Jiji Shimpō is disappointed in the President "who failed to carry out a policy he knew was just and fair."

BRITISH CAPITAL FOR THE WEST

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR NICHOL, on his way back to Victoria from London after an extended stay on the other side of the Atlantic, asserts that British capital is turning this way again and that he has information regarding several big investments to be made in British Columbia.

"From present developments in England, I am certain that a great many English capitalists will be seeking points outside England wherein to invest their capital, and Canada, you may be sure, will be one of the first fields to be investigated," His Honor says.

Mr. Nichol's statement is not mere talk, because our Lieutenant-Governor, wonderfully successful and conservative business man as he has been, has never been given to mere talk. He knows whereof he speaks, as his connections in London are the very highest.

Besides, the accuracy of Mr. Nichol's prediction is already being attested by the action of an important aggregation of British capital in turning to Western Canada to enter the grain handling and flour milling business on a large scale. The aggregation referred to is the Spillers interests, of which the head, Sir William Nicholls, has recommended the investment of ten million dollars in this part of Canada.

Already the Spillers Company is building a two-million-dollar terminal elevator at Vancouver, which will be available for this year's crop and which will make it possible to double the quantity of Canadian wheat shipped through the Panama Canal.

When the Spillers' plans are carried out, besides the two-million-dollar elevator at Vancouver, they will own and operate a chain of 238 elevators in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, and a flour mill in Alberta—probably the mill, started but never completed, of the Alberta Flour Mills—with a capacity of ten thousand barrels a day.

The whole represents the largest direct investment of British capital in a single commercial enterprise in Canada that has been made for many years—if, indeed, it has ever been equalled. As it has to do with the handling and developing of a greater market for a great natural product of Canada, it has exceptional interest and significance.

The activity of the Spillers is by far the largest, but it involves only one of a number of developments planned, including several B.C. mining flotations, as outlets for British capital in this Western country. Mr. Nichol's statement again in this direction has been more than justified by developments in B.C. before the statement reached us. Most people would accept a ten-million-dollar investment in a fundamental industry as convincing as to the attitude now of British capital towards us.

ECHOES OF THE CELEBRATION

A NOTEWORTHY feature of the recent celebration was the contribution to the programme made by the schools. In the sports on Friday and the parade on Saturday they distinguished themselves in a marked degree. The manner in which the long list of events at the Willows went off was highly creditable to the teachers and contestants. It was a model of precision and promptitude, a continuous procession of entertaining contests into which the youngsters entered with inspiring enthusiasm. In arranging and carrying out this programme the teachers showed organizing capacity of the highest order, and we suggest that this talent be more largely drawn upon by the community in the planning and conduct of future festivities, or any other project for that matter, in which intelligent organization is required. Likewise, the contribution of the schools to the parade was one of the most attractive features of this portion of the programme.

We have emphasized the part played by the teachers and pupils of our schools because in other years celebrations here have suffered from the failure to draw upon these resources in the same measure they are drawn upon in other Coast cities on similar occasions.

The celebration in the main was one of the most successful events of its kind ever held in the city, and all those connected with it deserve to be congratulated on the way in which they rose to the occasion. Much praise is due the general committee, particularly those officials who labored tirelessly for months often in the face of considerable discouragement to present a pageant worthy of this community.

Sir Edward Goschen, who died in London the other day will go down in history for the telling contribution he made towards winning the war. He did this when as British Ambassador to Berlin he elicited from Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg the contemptuous words "A scrap of paper," which turned out to be such a rallying cry for anti-German sentiment throughout the world.

THE SIMPLE LIFE SAFEST

DR. CHARLES H. MAYO, one of the two famous Mayo surgeons and head of the remarkable Mayo clinic and hospitals in Rochester, in an address in the East yesterday, blamed the modern habit of over-eating for many of our modern ills, including cancer.

His statements are along the lines of what have been anticipated as the conclusions of the British Ministry of Health in the investigation it has been conducting into the success of monastic life from the physical health standpoint. The Ministry recently wrote up to the fact that monks in the monasteries still scattered throughout Great Britain are exceptionally long-lived. Medical experts were commissioned to find out why.

Doctor S. Monckton Copeman has prepared a confidential report to the Government after personal investigations at monasteries. Some of his conclusions have been permitted to leak out. The doctor appears unable to decide whether to assign the longevity of British monks to their diet, to their work, to the peaceful character of their lives or to their isolation.

He is quoted as follows by the London Universe, a Roman Catholic weekly: "Most of the monasteries I visited were enclosed communities that have very little contact with the outside population. The monks only contact with the world is when they take a walk together about once a week. As they do not enter stuffy trains and crowded halls, they are naturally little subjected to the everyday infectious diseases, like influenza."

The London Daily News was sufficiently interested in the discovery to send a reporter to the Carthusian monastery at Cowfold, the only provincial house of the famous Grande Chartreuse in the British Isles. Here he found a hale old man of eighty acting as porter, and another of about the same age busy with a wheelbarrow. There were many monks over seventy who were regarded by their brethren as belonging more or less to the wild young people one reads about in the magazines. Numerous diseases, such as cancer, consumption or influenza were almost unknown, both among the living monks and on the death records of the monastery.

"Abstemiousness, regularity of life, absence of worry," was the prior's explanation. In other words, the simple life.

RECKLESS

HON. T. G. COVENTRY, who comes from an ancient and titled family, is making efforts to enter politics in British Columbia. One of the first things Hon. Mr. Coventry must learn is that it is necessary for a man, if he expects to be taken seriously by the public, to pay at least a little attention to accuracy in facts and figures.

Hon. Mr. Coventry in his exuberance tells the people of Saanich that the net debt of British Columbia has risen from $23,000,000 in 1916 to $75,000,000 at the end of last session.

The auditor's statements in the finance department under the comptroller-general, however, show the actual figures as to British Columbia's net debt to be $38,775,267.

The gross debt of the Province, which covers investments in producing and self-supporting public works, buildings and enterprises, is only $71,432,261. And Hon. Mr. Coventry tries to make the net debt even greater than that.

These figures show how wild and fast Hon. Mr. Coventry is playing in an effort to attract attention. Hon. Mr. Coventry is a young man and possibly does not know better. Mr. Bowser will have to call him aside and tone him down a bit if he is not going to make his party appear wholly ridiculous in Saanich.

A new kind of corn has been developed "with ears close to the ground." It takes after the politicians.

Canadian literature sometimes wins its reward, even at Ottawa. Questions asked in the House of Commons last week revealed that the Rev. C. W. Gordon of Winnipeg as Ralph Connor received $17,640 for his services as chaplain and patriotic speaker during the war.

THE BOBS THAT USED TO BE

From The Ponoka Herald
Joe Bremner (Indian) was in the Herald office the other day, as usual, was in a reminiscent mood. This time it was the changing fashions. Talking about bobbed hair, he remembered the days when the Blackfoot and the Cree Indians used to bob the hair of their captives. The better the bob the better-looking the pony. Now white woman, she follow example: the better the bob the better-looking the woman.

COMETS DISCARD TAILS

Comets can discard their tails much like a deer discards his horns. The most notable instances of this were Bielly's comet in 1905, Moorehouse's in 1908 and Halley's in 1910. The Moorehouse comet went through some violent convulsions before shedding its tail, but as soon as the old one started to go a new one shot out at quite a different angle. The new tail moved out faster than the old one taking its departure. Evidently the latter was made up of heavier particles.

Though the volume of a comet may be very great its actual mass is very small. The average density of a comet is but a fraction of that of the air near the earth's surface, and the density of the extremity of the tail is of course very much less.

When a comet passed though Jupiter's satellite system in 188, not a moon veered from its course, but the comet totally changed its orbit as a result of the magnetic forces exerted by the planet.

WINTER BIRD

From The New Republic
My bird, my darling,
Calling through the cold afternoon:
Those round bright notes,
Each one so perfect,
Shaken from the other and yet
Hanging together in flashing clusters!
The small soft flowers and the ripe fruit,
All are gathered.
It is the season now of nuts and berries
And round bright flashing droops
On the frozen grass.
—Katherine Mansfield.

Dr. Frank Crane on "Friends and Proximity"

(Copyright)

THE most fatal thing to friendship is familiarity.

One most enthusiastic friendships are the new ones.

Time is a merciless gardener and nowhere more ruthless than when he goes a-weeding in our garden of friendships.

Very often a man and wife keep on living together long after they have ceased to be friends. For, as Jack London said, it is the commonplace that is the destroying worm of matrimony.

A strange light is thrown upon this subject by a passage from Dostoevski's book "Recollections of the House of the Dead," which contains memories of his imprisonment in Siberia. The first part of the book, regarding the spiritual condition of the prisoners, is typical of prisoners everywhere.

Dostoevski states in this book that the prisoners never make friends, although they have the opportunity day after day to do so. Notwithstanding the fact that they converse much with each other, they are lonely men. I had the opportunity to speak with a prisoner on this point the other day and he was decidedly of the same opinion.

He said: "It is impossible to make friends with men with whom you are in constant contact all hours of the day. If I were to make up my mind to establish a friendship with one of the men in the camp, I should wish to see him but one hour a day. When I entered the camp I was a liberal-minded man, but during the years of imprisonment, I have become melancholy, a misanthrope, because of this constant living with other men."

This is a singular and unusual comment upon human nature. The reason lies in the shallowness of our ideals and the worthless lives which most of us lead. For there can be no enduring friendship that is not founded upon the simple and enduring virtues of character, such as heroism, unselfishness and a realization of the spiritual values of life.

It is because we do not possess these that we must be continually rattling around and meeting new people. For our thirty souls are ever seeking that water of life which flows only from nobility of character. We never find it, and if we do find it, we are unable to receive it.

How Frontenac Dealt With the Iroquois

WHEN Count Frontenac returned as Governor to New France in 1689 after an absence of seven years, he found the feeble colony in most pitiable distress. For several years now the Iroquois had roamed its length and breadth at will, tomahawking, scalping, burning, with most ineffectual interference from the Governor, the Marquis de Denonville. Fields lay uncultivated, clearings began to grow again, the settlers dared hardly move outside their doors or palisades. If such they had, except in armed parties. Worst of all, the fur trade with the Western Indians, Algonquins and remnants of Hurons, the very life-blood of the colony, was dammed up in the Upper Country and its flow completely checked. Finally, on the night of August 4, that same year, these ferocious savages fell upon the little village of La Chine, close by Montreal, massacred half the population, bore the rest away to torture and burn to death, and set fire to all the houses.

Frontenac blamed the English for the instigation of this outrage. In part he was right, no doubt, because, while the Governors of New York had not definitely ordered this attack by the French, they had urged the Iroquois against the French in the attempt to say their westward expansion, and especially to destroy the French claim to control of the Iroquois country south of Lake Ontario.

Frontenac determined on swift action to rehabilitate the vanishing French prestige among the Indians, to raise the habitants from their dejection and to teach the English that New France understood the origin of her woes, and that she still could sting. Three expeditions were instantly prepared. One expedition, to strike a blow at the English settlements, fighting in the savage manner. In the dead of winter in the early months of 1690, they crossed with much suffering and privation the intervening wilderness and fell upon three widely-separated, unsuspecting border villages. One party went from Montreal against Schenectady on the frontier of New York; another started from Three Rivers and descended upon Salmon Falls, in Massachusetts, where the horrors of the night at Schenectady were successfully repeated.

The third party started in January from Quebec, composed of fifty Frenchmen and sixty Algonquian Indians, all under command of the Baron de Portneuf, a Canadian seigneur of distinction. Their destination was the English Fort Loyal on Casco Bay, on the site of what is now the heart of the city of Portland, Maine. Here stood a palisaded stronghold, mounting eight pieces of artillery, and situated on a dominating knoll close by the shore. The village lay nearby protected by four small blockhouse forts. There had been an Indian war during the previous year, but the colonists felt perfectly secure as early in the season as May, for wilderness travel was still too precarious for war parties. It was the twenty-fifth of May when Portneuf arrived in the neighboring forest with a force augmented by some of those who had already taken part in the raid on Salmon Falls and by a body of Acadian Indians under that strange and impressive figure of romance, the Baron de Saint-Castin, a French nobleman living the life of an Indian chief in the wilds of Maine and New Brunswick and wielding enormous influence over all tribes of that region. The total was now nearly five hundred.

The Indians killed a straggling settler, whooped in triumph, and thus lost the advantage of surprise. Portneuf invested the fort in regular siege and zigzagged a scheme of trenches up to the palisades. A sortie of rash and insubordinate defenders was annihilated save four, leaving the garrison of one hundred only seventy. Captain Davis tried to gain time by parley till British ships should arrive to save the situation, but, failing, capitulated on May 28, on the word of Portneuf that the lives of all should be spared. Scarcely had they opened the gates, however, and laid down their arms when the Indians sprang upon them, massacred about half their number, defenceless men, women and children, and carried off the rest as prisoners.

Captain Davis, with four companions, was saved by yielding to the French, was treated well and carried captive to Quebec, where he complained to Frontenac that Portneuf had broken faith and then justified himself by saying that the English were heretics and rebels to their lawful King James II, recently driven out, and therefore it was not necessary to keep one's word with them.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful of two tablets of Blasted Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomachs no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Blasted Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and without the slightest pain or discomfort, try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Blasted Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

NO MOTOR CAMPING AT MOUNT DOUGLAS

Will Make Immediate Start at Memorial Avenue

There will not be any permission granted to camp temporarily at Mount Douglas park to motorists overnight, owing to the fire danger, and also to the fact that the city is maintaining a properly-equipped motorist's camp at Curtis Point, the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee decided yesterday afternoon.

A number of suggestions looking to the improvement of the picnic grounds there were considered, and ordered to be put in hand.

The Provincial Fire Marshal, J. A. Thomas, recommended to the committee stringent regulations with regard to beach fires. In that connection it was resolved to look further into the question of supplying stoves at the beaches for the convenience of campers.

Authority was given the Native Sons of Canada to hold a monster picnic on Dominion Day at the filter beds, Elk Lake.

MEMORIAL AVENUE
Brig.-Gen. L. P. Clark attended by request in connection with the inauguration of work at Memorial Avenue, and it was resolved to make a start at once with the appropriation in hand, without waiting for the anticipated results of the tax day to be held August 9. A considerable amount of work, it was reported, would be necessary to be done.

Reeve Macnicol said that a nurseryman had told him that the plane trees being supplied by the city were not the best trees for the purpose, and would have to be watered daily.

The committee voted $250 to start the work, and a conference will be held on the ground immediately.

FOUND GUILTY
Everett, Wash., May 28.—The jury at the trial of Carl Ryberg, accused of the slaying of Mrs. Laura Mumme at Seattle Heights, Wash., February 20 last, returned a verdict of guilty of a second degree murder charge after forty-five minutes of deliberation here yesterday.

L. R. STEEL OPERATIONS
Toronto, May 28.—The final step in the liquidation of the L. R. Steel interests will be taken July 15, when creditors of L. R. Steel, Inc., and the Steel Realty Development Corporation have been directed to appear before Federal Judge John R. Hazel in Buffalo, and show cause why discharge from bankruptcy should not be granted. Upon the result of the proceedings depends the operation of the Canadian stores.

ST. COLUMBA LADIES PLAN ACTIVITIES FOR SUMMER MONTHS

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Oak Bay, at their last monthly meeting, decided on an active programme for the summer months instead of suspending activities for that period. Commencing with the June meeting, and continuing every third month thereafter, there will be an educational feature in the form of a lecture, address, debate or exchange of ideas, followed by tea, each member undertaking to bring at least one visitor.

At a June date, to be announced later, a playlet will be given by members of the society, assisted by members of the Young People's Society. Rehearsals are now being conducted by the convener, Mrs. MacCrimmon. Another innovation is the employment of $1 talent money by each member of the society, this initial sum and its accretions to be returned with a written or oral report stating the uses to which the original sum was put and how it was increased. These reports will be one of the features of the annual County Fair to be held some time in August.

A sale of home cooking, with Mrs. Bowers as convener, will be held at Spencer's, Saturday, June 7.

It was also decided to have representatives of the society in the church vestibule to greet strangers at the regular Sunday services.

Miss Gardner, convener of the decorating committee, asked that she be notified of cases of illness among members of the congregation, so that flowers might be sent.

MORTALITY AMONG MOTHERS TOO HIGH

Dr. Helen MacMurchy Says Five Die in Every 1,000 Childbirths

Montreal, May 28.—Canada's mortality rate among mothers and infants is far too high, Dr. Helen MacMurchy, chief of the Child Welfare Division of the Federal Department of Health, declared in an address given here last night under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Out of every 1,000 children born, she said, 101 were lost before they were a year old, and for the same number five mothers died.

"We look to you to make Canada safe for the mother and she will make Canada safe for the baby," she said.

Mrs. H. P. Plimtree, convener of the committee on immigration and naturalization, said that the Council of Canada, said health and education were two aspects of the immigration problem which needed more attention.

Mrs. H. Dobson has gone to Vancouver, where she will meet her mother, who is coming here on a visit from England.

CANADIAN WOMEN MAKE BUSINESS GOOD

The pessimist undoubtedly has his place in the sphere of things, but one must take his preachings for what they are worth and no more. One hears that business is very poor, that hard times are ahead, that the commercial structure of the Province must yet undergo further drastic reconstruction. Indeed it might not be hard to let your mind concoct a bleak, black picture for the immediate future.

Fortunately, however, the optimists are still in the majority. A dozen cases could be cited to prove that good business is expected to continue, if conducted along proper lines. One outstanding example, however, that comes to mind first, is the announcement from the head office of the D'Alaird Manufacturing Company, Montreal, to the effect that the time had come to open another new line in their store in this city.

This firm has made in late years a big name for themselves through the sale of their "D'Alaird" line of dress, and has recently sold Spring and Fall dresses as well. Success was so phenomenal that in a very short time the store was represented by twenty of their own stores in the chief centres of Canada.

Now they announce their intention to offer the same line of dress, dresses. This should portend good business ahead. These people are possibly the keenest merchandisers in this particular field, as they are selling direct to the consumer much the same as is done with great success in the United States. Where the same line of dress is sold, the merchandise is combined with goods that meet the ever changing demands of the consumer, business is bound to keep up.

AN AMBITIOUS VEHICLE FOR PLAYERS' CLUB

Faversham's Favorite Play "The World and His Wife" at Pantages on Friday

Mr. William Faversham's favorite play, "The World and His Wife," will be this year's performance by the Players' Club of the University of British Columbia at Pantages on Friday night, May 30, under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club.

This choice marks a very distinct forward step in the policy of the club for the play is the most ambitious vehicle the students have yet attempted. The record of the Players' Club well justifies this choice. The first play produced was Jerome's "Fanny and the Servant Problem," which received such interest that it was followed the next year by Zangwill's "Merely Mary Ann." Barrie's popular "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire," was next produced, and met with instant success. In the next two years' productions of Wilde's, "The Importance of Being Earnest," and Mason's "Green Stockings," the club's circle of friends was so widened that although performances had formerly been confined to Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster, the sixth play, "Sweet Lavender," was produced in several interior towns. A. A. Milne's "Mr. Pim Passes By," and Shaw's "You Never Can Tell," also received many invitations from the interior, and it is felt that this year's choice of "The World and His Wife," will add to the club's growing reputation.

Throughout the whole of its successful career the Players' Club has enjoyed the capable directorship of F. G. G. Wood, and in its own chosen way has done much to keep the Province interested in the university and stimulating interest in the drama. In these times when travelling companies in the commercial theatre are few and uncertain.

Memorial Avenue In South of England

Supporters of the Shelbourne Street Memorial Avenue scheme will read with considerable interest the accompanying item from the London Times:

"A memorial record has recently been affixed by the Town Council of Folkestone, England, on the 'Road of Remembrance,' which leads from the Less promenade to Folkestone Harbor, where troops from all parts of the Empire embarked for the battlefields of France and Flanders. This road has been planted with hundreds of rosemary bushes 'for remembrance.' The inscription is as follows:

"The Road of Remembrance," 1914-1918. "twice in our rough island story, the path of duty was the way to glory." During the great war tens of thousands of British soldiers passed along this road on their way to and from the battlefields of Europe. "At the going down of the sun and in the morning we will remember them." (Newbolt).

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Birch Pop

(Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)
By Howard R. Garis

Jole, Tommie and Kittle Kat, the pussy children, sat on the back stoop of their house looking and "I wish I had ten cents!" mewed Tommie.

"I wish I had fifteen cents!" sighed Jole.

"What do you want fifteen cents for?" asked Tommie quickly. "Bottles of soda water pop only cost five cents apiece, and we could each get one if we had ten cents. Ten cents is plenty—you shouldn't wish for too much."

"I was thinking of Kittle," mewed Jole, and he pointed his tail at their sister, who was sewing a green ribbon on a red dress for her doll with shoe button eyes.

"Thank you for thinking of me, Jole," said Kittle. "But I guess that's all the good it will do."

"I forgot about Kittle," said Tommie. "Yes, I wish we had fifteen cents. Then we'd buy three five-cent bottles of soda water pop and have a picnic, 'cause we got out of school early to-day."

"But what's the use of wishing?" said Jole. "Nobody is going to give us fifteen cents." Tommie stopped suddenly, for Kittle was kicking him in the leg. "What's the matter?" he asked her.

"You must ask Uncle Wiggily for money!" cried Kittle quickly.

It's a great food to keep kids whistlin'—and how they do put it away!

Nourishing and delicious—and doesn't tax digestion either.

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES
Oven-fresh always

"Mother said you mustn't." "That's right—she did," agreed Jole.

"But we could go over to his bungalow and talk to him," said Tommie. "And we could ask him if he liked soda water pop, and if he said he did then we could say we liked it, too, but we couldn't get any 'cause we didn't have any money. And if he was to give us money that wouldn't be asking for it!"

"No, I don't guess it would," agreed Kittle. "We can do that."

So the three pussy children, holding their tails straight up in the air like fishing poles, so they wouldn't drag in the dirt, went over to the rabbit gentleman's bungalow. There he sat in the sunshine on the front porch twinking his pink nose.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, do you like soda water pop?" asked Jole.

"Who's going to?" mewed Tommie. "I was just going to tell him we like pop."

"Well, I was just going to make some birch pop, and I invite you to stay and see me do it, and then, if you want to, you may have some to drink," offered the bunny.

"Oh, goodie!" cried Jole, Tommie and Kittle Kat.

Uncle Wiggily hopped a little way into the woods, the three pussy children following. The rabbit found a birch tree and gnawed off some of the spicy inner bark. This he carried back to his bungalow.

Next he took some sweetened water and into it he put part of a yeast cake Nurse Jane gave him. Then, into the sweet, yeasty water the rabbit gentleman put some of the spicy birch bark. Then he corked up the bottles and set them in the sun.

"Soon we shall have birch pop," he said.

"Will it have funny little bubbles in and make you feel queer up your nose?" asked Kittle.

"Yes," said Uncle Wiggily. "It will. The yeast will make the bubbles. The pussy children could hardly wait for the sun to warm the yeasty, sweetened pop so the bubbles would form, but at last the birch drink was made, and then it was set in a deep spring of water to cool. Then Uncle Wiggily got glasses and the pussy children waited eagerly.

Uncle Wiggily cut the string that tied the cork in a bottle.

"Pop!" out flew the cork as from a toy gun.

"It's just like real soda water!" mewed Tommie. "It pops!"

"And see it foam!" exclaimed Jole. "This is lovely!" said Kittle. "I want to make my nose feel funny" and the birch pop did when Kittle swallowed some of the bubbles.

"Just when they were having a lovely time at the birch pop party the unpleasant old Weasel came along, trying to catch the rabbit uncle. But Mr. Longears gave him a fresh bottle and he aimed it at the Weasel.

"Hang!" out popped the cork and it hit the Weasel on the back of his nose, bringing tears to his eyes.

"Ouch!" howled the Weasel. "I never did like soda water, anyhow, especially birch pop." Then the pussy children laughed, and so did the rabbit gentleman, and they had lots of fun when the Weasel ran away.

"And if the tin horn doesn't climb up the gas pipe and blow the chimney off the roof, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the chocolate bunny."

Robertson Directs
May McAvoy on Screen Once Again

John S. Robertson and May Mc-Avoy are reunited again. The happy association which resulted in that delightful production of Sir James Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy" began anew with Mr. Robertson's production of "The Enchanted Cottage."

For the first time since Miss Mc-Avoy played the role of Grizel in "Sentimental Tommy" she has a part worthy of her talent as a screen actress.

"The Enchanted Cottage," a First National picture, now being shown at the Royal Theatre, is a story of England after the war. It tells of a war hero, returning home laden with medals, but shattered physically.
He meets a girl who is plain and unattractive. Yet, to each other, these twain are the most beautiful of all living things. Love re-creates them and gives them a beauty which no others can perceive.

In the enchanted cottage in which their love affair takes place, they live again all the many loves that transpired in it in the past. The Tudor realtant comes to court his love; the pompous noble of Queen Anne's day revisits the scene of his amours, and to the modern youth return all the fair ladies who have felt their lovers' breath upon their cheeks and kissed upon their lips.

This beautiful story has received from the combined efforts of Mr.
Barthelmess, Mr. Robertson and Miss McAvoy, that intelligent and ment which it deserves. It eclipses all previous efforts of these three motion picture artists.

Glen Hunter Plays
Boy Role in Film
"Youthful Cheaters"

Glen Hunter, who plays the leading role in "Youthful Cheaters," appears on the screen at the Playhouse Theatre this week, has the distinction of being classed as one of the greatest delineators of youthful roles on the screen to-day. Following the success that he has made on the stage in the Broadway, New York, success of "Merton of the Movies" and also the first of his film presentations, "Second Fiddle," Mr.
Hunter presents in "Youthful Cheaters" a straightforward and upright youth who is suddenly thrown through various circumstances into a life of ease, wealth and jazz.

He has played important parts in such stage successes as "Polyanna,"
"Magic" and "Penrod." His success in the latter was so marked that Booth Tarkington immediately engaged him to play the leading part in "Clarence." His work in all of these productions has been the boy type, and as a result he has built himself up a very enviable reputation.

Bricklaying Not Greatest Hobby
of John Golden

From bricklayer to song writer to producer of most successful plays are some of the steps taken by John Golden, producer of "Lightning" during a career that has kept him almost constantly before the New York public and an outstanding figure in the inner circles of Broadway's club and theatrical life. Mr. Golden is sending an all-star cast, headed by Thomas Jefferson, Bessie Bacon and Charles E. Evans, to introduce "Lightning" at the Royal Victoria Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 2, 3 and 4.

As a boy John Golden aspired to be an architect, and he served as an apprentice bricklayer for a short time to learn the fundamentals of the building trades. But he soon tired of this and turned to song writing.

"Poor Butterfly," "Good-bye, Girls" and other famous hits made him wealthy. Concurrent with his song writing he amassed another fortune in the manufacture of chemicals.

Friendship with Winchell Smith, who has been associated with him either as author or director of all his plays, lured him in as a producer. "Turn to the Right" was his first production.

BELIEVES PARADE IS IMPRACTICABLE

Managing Secretary of Victoria Day Celebration Favors Street Carnival

While appreciating the suggestion made by Major W. H. Langley yesterday for a parade on Dominion Day, that the street parade, which has been the feature of the celebration since 1901, should be repeated, Managing Secretary C. B. Sylvester stated today that the plan was impracticable.

He pointed out that many of the floats had been dismantled, that the children would then be out of school control, and that with interest centered in politics, it would be impossible to sustain interest in the organization of the effort. Mr. Sylvester said to The Times:

"Now that we are trying to create a good feeling among the cities closely connected with us, as Port Angeles, Seattle, Bellingham, New Westminster, Vancouver, and Nanaimo, and as we are sending representatives to their annual festivities and as we had representatives from all these cities at the Victoria Day celebration, besides seven thousand of our citizens, it would be better for us to boost each festival in turn. As Vancouver has always recognized July 1 as its celebration day it would be better for us to have our usual picnic and send along a float, and a boat full of citizens, and join them. The fact remains that if each one had the backing of all the other cities on each occasion it would make a great success of every celebration. Another practical matter is that it is out to any extent, but why not have a large night entertainment on the streets for the sailors, with two or three bands."

TWO-YEAR TERM GIVEN ACCUSED

Wallace MacNaughton Sentenced by Magistrate Jay To-day

Charges on remand in the Juvenile Court this morning with conduct likely to prejudice a juvenile, Wallace MacNaughton was sentenced to two years imprisonment by Magistrate Jay.

The trial of James Smith and Wallace MacNaughton, charged on remand with enticing one likely to be a witness to leave Canada, opened in City police court shortly afterwards. Stuart Henderson and Ernest Miller appeared for the defence and Richard C. Lowe for the Crown. The main witness for the Crown, a seventeen-year-old girl, took the stand this morning. Witness stated that she left the City for Seattle via Vancouver and told of being brought back by the authorities from a Seattle hotel.

The hearing after the submission of evidence by the prosecution, adjourned until Thursday morning.

In a brief written judgment handed down in Supreme Court this week Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald overrules the objections raised by the defence in the hearing of the motion filed by Ernest Temple seeking a determination of outstanding questions in the Sooko Waterworks contract of the former Westholme Lumber Company Limited. Notice that the City, cited as defendants in the dispute, intended to appeal from this decision has been filed, and the defendants ask leave to bring in the hearing of argument in the matter before the next sitting of the B.C. Court of Appeal.

GREAT SALE OF BEDS

NOW ON Standard Furniture Co. 711 Yates Street

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Ladies' Aid of Dr. Clem Davies' Church have arranged to give a garden party on June 5, afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. W. J. MacKay, 517 Michigan Street.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances the Art Exhibition now being held in the private dining hall of the Hudson's Bay Company will not be open to the public on Thursday and Saturday, as previously announced. Friday, May 30, will therefore be the closing day of the exhibition.

The approaches to the Tasle River Bridge, on the Courtenay extension of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway, are being renewed, it was stated at the railway offices today. There is already a steel span with masonry abutments, but the approaches, which were of timber, require renewing.

The regular sitting of the Victoria Police Board will be held at 4.30 o'clock Friday. The case of the policeman, now under suspension, Miss Wark, and that of filling the vacancy created by the resignation of ex-constable Thomas Palmer, will be before the meeting.

The city plain clothes office and police force have now cleared the town of the unwanted and light fingered visitors of the holiday season. Several pickpockets came to join in the merrymaking, but all were taken up before their operations had become remunerative. One man had achieved a roll of $38, but most of this, he admitted, had been made in gentle touches before coming to this city.

At the close of the hearing of Rant and Jones Limited vs. the Victoria Brass and Iron Works, in County Court yesterday, Judge Lampman dismissed the claim, one of $168 damages as the result of a motor collision. There had been faults on both sides, decided Judge Lampman. His W. Whitaker appeared for plaintiff and F. C. Elliott for the defence.

Thomas Meighan, together with forty actors and actresses from the Famous Players Lasky studios at Hollywood, will arrive here tomorrow on the afternoon boat, next Wednesday, en route to Vancouver, there to film a picture under the direction of Herbert Brenson, formerly a Winnipeg newspaper man. Estelle Taylor will be leading lady in this film.

The failure of a motorist to draw up while fire engines raced to a fire at 225 Burdette Avenue at 4 p.m. yesterday led to a serious delay in getting the Yates Street house and chemical wagon to the scene of the fire. The driver of the fire rig got about to make the turn at Burdette and Cook Street when the private automobile crossed its tracks. To alter its course and make a circuit of the next block, a long one, and so back to the scene of the fire. When the engines arrived firemen found a vacant house blazing on both sides of its roof. The damage was checked. At 4.21 p.m. the Victoria fire engine made a run to 225 Burdette Avenue, where a roof was ablaze.

ASCENSION DAY SERVICES

Ascension Day services at St. Paul's Garrison Church, Esquimalt, will be held to-morrow, and are announced as follows: Holy Communion, 10 a.m.; children's service, 2.45 p.m.; evensong, 7.30 p.m.

To-morrow being Ascension Day, Chapel services will be held at St. John's Church at 10.30. At the close of the service corporate communion of the various organizations of the church will be observed.

ABSENTEE VOTERS PRESENT PROBLEM

More Expected to Use This Franchise Than in 1920

First Nomination Paper is Filed This Morning

There will apparently be a large number of persons to use the absentee vote franchise this time, as compared with the last election, according to indications made to Returning Officer W. P. Macchani. Inquiries are coming in from all parts of the Province for Victoria voting papers, to be issued as soon as the formal nominations have been concluded on Friday afternoon.

The franchise for the Victoria office to other returning officers will be based on one per cent of the registered electorate of the various ridings.

In order to comply with the amendment of 1921 of the Provincial Elections Act, Victoria must state the political party or interest of their candidate—something unusual in elections in British Columbia. The returning officer must state the party together on the ballot paper. When the clause was drawn, no provision was made for independents, and in that case the returning officer will have to exercise the discretionary power given to him under the coming provisions. Harry Howland, the names of the four Government candidates will come first, then the names of the four Opposition candidates, and other groups in alphabetical order.

There will be practical instruction given to poll clerks, and similar officials prior to the poll. In Vancouver a model polling booth has been established for the purpose of the election, but Mr. Macchani is not yet sure whether that course is essential here.

Revised figures for the electoral role in British Columbia show 12,192 registered electors.

The first nomination paper was filed to-day for Mr. Wright. It is as follows:

WRIGHT, ANDREW, of Riffington, Uplands, Oak Bay, proposed by Frank Burnell, Gerald Cross, Walter F. Barclay, W. M. Hotham, M. S. Ellis, L. E. Campbell, W. D. Brown, J. J. Collier, L. P. Macrae, Robert J. L. Macrae, R. H. Wilson, R. Newton, B. R. Ker, R. H. Wilson, Margaret B. Wright, Georgina Watson, Alfred Carmichael, D. S. Tait, W. R. Johnson and R. H. B. Ker.

FORMER INSPECTOR OF MINES DEAD

Late James McGregor Was Civil Servant Nearly Thirty Years

James McGregor, formerly Chief Inspector of Mines for British Columbia, passed away at an early hour this morning at the family residence, 51 Mendota Street.

The late Mr. McGregor was born at Sooke sixty-five years ago and in 1897 entered the Provincial Department of Mines. He was later appointed District Inspector for Nelson, retaining that position until 1920 when he succeeded the present Chief Inspector, Wilkinson, who resigned in 1920. On the supernumeration of Mr. McGregor in 1923 Mr. Wilkinson again assumed the position.

For many years Mr. McGregor lived at Nanaimo until taking up his residence in Victoria four years ago. He is survived by his widow and two sisters, Mrs. John Glahom and Mrs. Thomas Glahom of Nanaimo. He was a member of Dorje Lodge, A.F. and A.M. of Nanaimo. The remains are deposited at the Sands Funeral Chapel and arrangements will be announced later.

ROYAL VISITORS AT BIG EMPIRE FAIR

King George and Queen Mary And Italian King and Queen at Wembley

Longest Visit in a Building Was Their Stay in the Canadian Pavilion

London, May 28.—(Canadian Press Cable).—King George and Queen Mary, with King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy and Princess Matilde, spent a considerable part of the forenoon at the Canadian Pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition. Announcement of their visit to Wembley brought sightseers by the tens of thousands, but thanks to the skillfulness of the police and the good humor of the crowd, the royal party made a wailing tour of the exhibition in perfect comfort.

What appeared to strike the royal visitors most strongly at the B.C. Railway Pavilion were the exact replicas of the railway cars. Queen Mary expressed a desire that the Canadian National Railway send the model of the largest passenger car engine in silver and gold to Buckingham Palace for use there as a paper weight.

The longest visit of the royal party was in the Canadian Pavilion, where they were shown the lumber and Canadian manufacturing sections.

King George and Queen Mary were suddenly confronted with the model of the Prince of Wales in Canadian butter. The butter exhibit is the first of its kind in the Prince's Alberta home. The Prince, his horse, his ranch, the house and landscape all being made out of butter.

"Capital, capital, is it not?" King George exclaimed to Queen Mary, who was so much entertained by the display.

I.O.D.E. Prize For Best Short Story Won by J. Babcock

Toronto, May 28.—John P. Babcock of Victoria, B.C., has won the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire prize for 1924 for the best short story in the Order's annual short story and play competition. It is announced here today that the story is entitled "Peace River Joe."

Miss Dorothea Bidwell, Victoria, received honorable mention for her story, "T. M. Morrow." Westmount, Que., won the $100 prize for the best one-act play entitled "Coincidence."

Mr. Babcock is Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries of British Columbia. He has been a frequent contributor to Rod and Gun and other out-of-doors magazines.

TWENTY-FOUR CARS VISIT AUTO CAMP

Tourists Arrive Earlier Than Usual This Year; Californians Coming

Twenty-four automobile campers, registered at the Custer Point Camp since the opening, and a growing list of registrations at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureaus are evidence of earlier arrival of tourists in the city than in former years. In spite of early indications that there would be less travel from California both automobile parties and other tourists from California are arriving in good numbers. San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego are well represented in the California visitors. There is also a good number from Washington.

Tourists from the prairie provinces of Canada are coming to Victoria for the summer registrations show. Other visitors are from Honolulu, Portland, Chicago, and St. Louis. Charles E. Wilson, secretary of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau in the last few days are: C. H. Poole, Los Angeles; H. L. Corbett, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Lather, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. C. Martin, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. F. Furer, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. W. Scirebick, Calgary; George Frank, Honolulu; Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Dyer, Honolulu; Mr. and Mrs. G. Watson, Sacramento, and Edward E. Ayer, Chicago.

SELLING 'DEATH RAY' TO FRENCH COMPANY

Report Says Grindell Matthews Will Sign Contract on Friday Next

London Daily Express Tells of Inventions of Other Britishers

Paris, May 28.—France appears to-day to have a considerable lead in an apparent race between nations to gain control of the "death ray" invented by Grindell Matthews, a British scientist, who flew from Great Britain in an aeroplane yesterday to resume his negotiations with French capitalists as the British Government had failed to give him the backing he demanded. It was reported today that arrangements had been made for the signing of a contract Friday between Matthews and the Chantiers du Rhone, the Lyons company negotiating for the invention, and this gave rise to considerable speculation as to what other countries might do in the meantime.

Rumor has added Germany to Great Britain, France and the United States as bidders for the death ray. The supposed German offer is surrounded by a great deal of obscurity, however, and it has been impossible to trace it directly to a German source.

OTHER INVENTIONS.—London, May 28.—Other claims of "death ray" inventions are coming forward, including a man named Prior who, according to The Daily Express, obtains the energy for the ray by means of a battery of ordinary electric power mains. Another is a London engineer, Raffe, about whom nothing is stated beyond the fact of his claim, except that The Daily Express says he interviewed "the authorities" yesterday.

Referring to the ray said to have been developed in the Royal Aircraft factory at Farnborough, The Westminster Gazette says research work in this connection began during the war, the original object being to guide pilotless aeroplanes by radio waves. The experiments, the newspaper adds, are still progressing, and "a fair measure of laboratory success has been accomplished, but the ray has not yet been submitted to such tests as it would have to pass if it were to be of real value in warfare."

The annual meeting of the Victoria Seamen's Institute will be held at the Commodore Seamen's Institute to-morrow at 8 p.m. All members and persons interested in the welfare of the sailors are invited to be present.

The Victoria Boys' Orchestra desire to thank the Cameron Lumber Company and Mr. Anderson, who so kindly lent a truck for the parade, and also to J. Dempster, the driver.

IRISH TEAM WON

Paris, May 28.—The Irish Olympic soccer football team to-day defeated the Bulgarian Olympic football team 1-0.

A military 500 party will be held at the Temperance Hall at Keating on Saturday evening. Good prices will be offered.

WINDOW DISPLAYS OF HOME PRODUCTS

Merchants Promise Active Support to Chamber of Commerce Effort

Assurances of support to the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Group in their Buy B. C. Products Week, June 2 to 7, have been given by retail merchants and manufacturers in the city. At a meeting held yesterday at the Hudson's Bay cafe, A. J. Watson presiding, letters were read from many of the stores in the city stating that they will co-operate with window displays featuring goods made in British Columbia.

The stores will also be asked to permit a display of B. C. products that they do not handle. When the number of B. C. products sold is limited and to feature B. C. products in their advertising.

Thousands of stickers will be printed containing the words "Buy B. C. Products. Let B. C. Flourish by Her Industries" and these will be sent to merchants and manufacturers from local stores and correspondence sent out from offices during next week.

All sections of British Columbia are actively supporting the campaign which is described by the B. C. Products Bureau as a community effort which will bring cash returns. It will mean the bureau emphasizes more industries, greater population, larger markets and better business.

CENTENNIAL CHURCH

To the Editor:—We have been hearing a lot about Centennial Church, but I notice that we only get a one-sided view of the situation, as they please to call it. I am one who has heard Dr. Davies on more than one occasion, and know a little of the church life, so do not speak at random. In regard to the Centennial Church, I consider it very unjust. We have seen times past how one man can influence a church, and when people begin to discredit a man who is only fulfilling his duty in carrying out the laws of the church, and the solemn oath which they taken when they are received in church fellowship into God's holy house, I think that they ought to repent for their attitude and unkind words spoken.

In regard to the matter of placing another man in the pulpit, as every Methodist knows this is entirely in the hands of the stationing committee who have the power to move the ministers to any church if they feel that that man is not fitted to preach on the work God has given them to do. I admire the man who sticks by his religion and church, and does not admit his shamefacedness at being a Methodist. Centennial Church is not owned by the official board, but is dedicated for God's holy worship, and is placed in the hands of the stationing committee as a small portion of God's great vineyard where a religious harvest and one of soul-saving is expected. The Conference have acted according to God's guidance, and have at heart Christianity as a whole, and do not allow a small part of it to interfere with the whole. The world wide and not confined to Victoria. If people would think of other and not only of themselves the work of God would go on, and God would smile down upon us. It is a shame that religion has been made a laughing stock of instead of an uplifting influence, but God's divine plan will work out that which is best. As a Christian man's prayers go out to Mr. Hibbert, as he comes to undertake a hard task, but God will strengthen the hands of his workers and prosper them.

A REAL METHODIST.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

To the Editor:—A good deal is being said, and written, these days, about the numbers attending our religious "services," as we call them. A determined effort is being made to give the impression that the mere gathering of large numbers of people together in a place of worship is a great objective of the church.

It seems to be unrecognized that anybody with fair, average intelligence can draw large numbers of people if he is willing to pay the price. The all-important question is, what is the minister, or what is the church board, willing to do for them? Is the price too costly?

Jesus found the "multitude" very unresponsive, and did His stoniest work after getting rid of most of it—spiritually educative work, preparatory to, and paving the way for, Pentecost. Judged only by the number of His followers at the end of His earthly ministry, His work was a dismal failure. But the thousands of Pentecostal additions, made soon after His ascension, formed the real gauge of His work, as carried forward by His apostles and the rest of the 130. And, after all, is it not still, and always, only the numbers who, in association with the Church, catch and keep the Spirit of Pentecost, and live the new life which He brings, who count in genuine Christian work?

To be able to gather together, on Sunday evenings, great crowds of young people is the test of a minister's effectiveness, says one of your correspondents. That depends. It certainly depends. What is the minister giving them? And where is he leading them? I mean, in relation to the real Church, the Church of the living God; to real religion, the religion of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Yours truly, WM. ELLIOTT

Victoria, 27, 1924.

NATIONAL ANTHEM OMITTED

To the Editor:—As one of those who attended the Sunday service in the Arena on May 25, through the medium of The Times I wish to express my surprise at the fact that neither at the commencement nor at the finale of the service was the National Anthem sung. "O Canada" was the opening number, and one appreciates the reason why; but why omit the other on a programme of that kind?

It would be interesting and enlightening to know if the omission was intentional.

was intentional. I have lived in England, Australia, South Africa and Western, Middle and Eastern Canada and it is the first time in my experience that the National Anthem has not been played or sung at a public and patriotic (?) gathering. As I understand it, the festivities of the 23rd, 24th and Sunday service of the 25th took place to honor the memory of a great British sovereign. The service in the Arena was intended to call together those of us who are loyal to the British flag in order that we might publicly thank God for all the benefits we enjoy under that flag. I think, and I hope, there are many who think the same; that it was an occasion on which the National Anthem should have figured on a programme instead of being conspicuous by its absence.

It would almost appear that the omission was intentional and not an oversight.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

LITTLE CHANGE IN STOCKS

New York, May 28 (By R. P. Clark & Co., Ltd.)—Fluctuations in today's stock market carried no special significance, and the list ended the day very much about the levels that prevailed at the close last night. There was some selling in the rubber shares, influenced by talk in circulation to the effect that another price cut was impending.

Reports from steel centers talk of a gradually diminishing amount of business, but a tendency toward firmer prices, with the idea gaining ground that a turn for the better in that industry is near at hand. Investment stocks were in demand today and that maintained a strong tone, advances touching on the oil situation were rather constructive in their interpretation.

The market seems to be waiting for some fresh stimulus, and from a technical standpoint is, we believe, in a very good position to respond to constructive developments.

HOLIDAY MARKET IN WALL STREET

New York, May 28 (By B. A. Bond)

Trading in the stock market was slowed down to near the vanishing point several times today. Nearly all the business originated on the floor of the exchange and naturally was of a very professional character. Price changes inclined toward lower levels as in usual on dull markets. Chesapeake and Ohio in the rails sold a few specialties started up again, but net changes were confined to small fractions. The market appeared to be all through the session, but on account of the narrowness of the market and the small volume of business the net losses were insignificant. The market will be closed on Friday and Saturday, so it is not expected that any important movement will be seen until after the holiday. Professional sentiment is bearish, but there is some investment buying. Most of the buying during the past week is put down to short covering and if this contention is correct the technical picture of the market has been weakened considerably. The recent rally looked very much like the rallies we have had from time to time during the down swing. The stock ticker does not indicate that anything important has happened to reverse the trend toward lower levels in the industrial list. Railroad earnings in most instances make a lamentable showing when compared with last year, but rail stocks continue to creep to higher levels.

MAY DELIVERIES UNDER PRESSURE

Chicago, Ill., May 28 (R. P. Clark)

Wheat—The market showed a reactionary tendency again today, with considerable selling on the better crop prospects since the general rains. Foreign news also had a bearing on the market, with the wheat price being a factor in buying and while there was a better cash demand with sales of 50,000 bushels, the commission house buying demand was of small proportion. On the whole there was free selling.

June scenery is usually too good to encourage free buying but as there has been no important advance in price, and as the level for the past few months has been unreasonably low, we see no reason to expect any material decline.

Barley—There have been discounted for a long time, and the increasing evidences of a big continued foreign demand suggests better demand later for whole grain.

World's stocks decreased 13,697,000 bushels for the week, which again emphasizes how the world's consumptive demand has been under estimated and ignored.

Temporarily we look for a trading market with conditions warranting purchases on setbacks.

Corn—Free covering of corn recently left the market in a weaker technical position while there was moreover a rather bearish collection of news features. Deliveries were 350,000 bushels with 145,000 bushels sold to go to store, while receipts were 190 cars with cash prices relatively 1/2 cent off. Yesterday's receipts of both late and early corn were 625,000 bushels. Higher temperatures following the recent rains make a more favorable situation.

Oats—Trade slow with prices affected by the weakness in other grains. Cash market was slow with sales of 36,000 bushels. Receipts were fifty-five cars and deliveries were 165,000 bushels. Crop news more favorable since the rains.

On the dips we look for a good support but see no big advance in prospect.

Chicago, May 28, By R. A. Bond

While the action of the grain market suggests the influence of the weather as the dominant factor, it is felt that the belated liquidation in the May deliveries has something to do with the weakness of the past few days. The market has been strong for some time and the short interest was fairly well eliminated in the near options and while these deliveries may be pretty well covered up the weight of supplies probably will be felt in the May contracts during the next two sessions. A food fraction was lost in wheat and corn and the market closed near the day's lows. A firmer market is expected after the end of the month.
